

My prayer for you today

January 9, 2017

God our heavenly father comfort our families as they wake up and start the day by giving them peace and endurance. Give them faith, virtue, knowledge, temperance, patience, godliness. Bring forth constant affection which radiates kindness and love towards everyone. Let them not take ways and means of their own. Give them a heart and mind of self-worth towards themselves and others. Give them light so that they may find love in their spirit which affects those around them.

I pray that you will send down to us your help in raising our children (child). Give me patience and strength to do your will in raising them (him/her). Remind me to plant in their heart the root of all true wisdom and understanding with your guidance.

Protect them from arms way and the enemies' tricks and distortion of all types. Open them up to understand your law. Fortified in them daily bread so that it is necessary for the acquisition of blessings. Let your countenance shine upon them in the days of their tribulation that they may not fall into temptations beyond their strength. Bless the marriages and relationships, I pray, oh loving God, fill it with your peace and joy, and help us in times of difficulty to remember your glory and call upon the powers of your Holy Spirit.

Bring peace and closeness to families who have deteriorated relationships. Reunite them and bring Peace, into the house, I pray your magnificence will go lucid over their establishment and livelihood. May never in these walls are heard the hateful or accusing word. Help those to forgive their trespassers so that they will have peace of mind. You will comfort and guide their steps daily as they journey along the road of forgiveness. It is difficult but necessary so that they may flourish as you have a blessing a waiting for them once they are delivered.

The gift of life you have given to families we must treasure every moment with our love ones. A miracle you've sent our way! King Jesus. Lord, bless our families today.
